

#ARTOWN

I grew up in many different places because of my dad's military service, but Jonesboro is the place I call home now. It's a special place, but so is the rest of our state and the many towns and cities that Arkansans call home.

To celebrate Arkansas' natural beauty and its communities, I'm starting a monthly photo challenge where 1st District of Arkansas constituents can share pictures of their favorite towns, rivers, lakes, hills, fields, wildlife – any picture of the 1st District. The challenges will last a full month, with the winner announced at the end of that month. The winner's photo will not only be shared on my social media accounts and newsletter, but the picture will also permanently hang in my office in Washington D.C.!

To submit your photo, simply post on Twitter, Facebook, or Instagram using the hashtag #ARTOWN, or you may email your photo to artown@mail.house.gov. Please include a brief description of your photo when you post or send. The competition starts today!
